Watching the film is first advised—it is gritty and does contain some swearing. Widower Daniel Blake, a 59-year-old joiner from the N East, tries to navigate the benefits system after being forced to stop working when he is taken ill with heart disease. His benefits are then removed, and he is forced to jump through the many hoops of the bureaucratic system to get them back. During this time, he meets single mother Katie whose financial problems mean that she is being forced out of her home in London along with her two kids.
